Lisbon a city in the shadows is a non-fiction book by Neil Lochery about a country's importance in WW2 and the stories that go unheard. A city where the allied and axis powers fought over espionage, propaganda, refugees fleeing France and natural resources within the country. This book also goes through how the dictator of Portugal at the time

Slazer helped guide Portugal through the war without declaring war on the allies or the axis powers. This book will help you understand how important of a role Lisbon: War in the Shadows of the City of Light, 1939-1945 ... Lisbon had a pivotal role in the history of World War II, though not a gun was fired there. The only European city in which both the Allies and the Axis power operated openly, it was temporary home to much of Europe's exiled royalty, over one million refugees seeking passage to the U.S., and a host of spies, secret police, captains of industry, bankers, prominent Jews, writers and artists ...
